Intro

What do you get out of festivals?

Finding tribe members, an established tribe, new friendships, and novel interactions.

A festival should not be something you go to and come back from. Never go home! Find a new home!

A festival is an opportunity to meet people and then form caravans and initiatives to change the world. The most important thing is not to go back to a job that only slowly makes no difference and doesn't influence people to convert to full autonomy.

It's everyone's responsibility to maintain an awesome atmosphere. It's not one person's responsibility to maintain the vibe of hundreds of attendees.

An important part is the caravan marketplace,

Individualist - picks up jobs at random to suit their needs. Stays either at stationary locations or in a caravan or solo nomad life.

Flash Travel Festival

Two weeks of fun twice a year - the best of both spring and fall!

Hop on anywhere you wish and caravan in either direction as we open up a trail of marketplaces during these two weeks in which people can connect and form larger alliances.
