

List Of Achievements

Moral Debt

Most individuals I've met have racked up a massive "moral-debt" as a result of their lifestyle choices. If one's game is to abolish slavery in this realm, and/or to advance the needle more toward freedom than slavery, then one must first consider what their lifestyle and choices have done to that needle, and what must be done to make sure your lifestyle change will result in a net impact of more freedom than less.

Everyone has to have an understanding of the larger network and the potential we have in this lifetime to create total anarchy support servile lifestyles

It's not our fault anything we have done so far. We were forced into being assholes by the world

There are not enough options.

You can choose to make a standard for yourself